

my source for comfort in the storm

—Nora, age 10

When the tornado sirens go off, Nora and her family head to the basement and tune in WILL's chief meteorologist Ed Kieser. Ed, the only certified broadcast meteorologist in the region, heads a weather team that includes three meteorologists. Nora doesn't really care about that. When she hears WILL, she knows her parents are getting the most accurate information to keep her and her sisters safe, and she feels reassured.

Tell us a "my source for" story at will.illinois.edu